MISCELLANEOUS.

Mrs. Fred Unrath.
President Country Club, Benton Harbor, Mich.

"After my first baby was born I did not seem to regain my strength although the doctor gave me a tonic which he considered very superior, but instead of getting better I grew weaker every day. My husband insisted that I take Wine of Cardui for a week and see what it would do for me. I did take the medicine and was very grateful to find my strength and health slowly returning. In two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was able to take up my usual duties. I am very enthusiastic in its praise."

Wine of Cardui reinforces the organs of generation for the ordeal of pregnancy and childbirth. It prevents miscarriage. No woman who takes Wine of Cardui need fear the coming of her child. If Mrs. Unrath had taken Wine of Cardui before her baby came she would not have been weakened as she was. Her rapid recovery should commend this great remedy to every expectant mother. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow.

SHAPE OF THE HAIR.

Its Contour Decides Whether It Will Be Curly or Straight.

Normally straight hair cannot be made to curl naturally or permanently owing to its contour, which is cylindrical.

The contour of the hair is either cylindrical, oval or flattened. Whether a hair is to be curly or straight is largely dependent upon its contour. The more oval or flattened it is the more it will be curled.

Cylindrical or straight hair is even in its construction from root to point. In other words, the fibers of the middle layer are disposed regularly and evenly around the central pith, and hence a perfect cylinder is the result.

As this fibrous portion is the seat of elasticity and strength it follows that the tension must be equal on all sides of the hair shaft; consequently there can be no twisting of the hair upon its central axis; therefore it must hang or grow straight without wave or curl.

Naturally curled hair is oval in contour, the fibrous portion being unevenly distributed—that is, not in the center of the hair shaft, but on one side; hence a coiling or curling ensues.

Hair being hydroscopic, it is from this fact liable to have its curling properties influenced by the state of the atmosphere. Therefore naturally curled hair becomes more curled when the hair is surcharged with moisture. But artificially curled hair invariably becomes straightened and lank at the first approach of dampness, for the reason that the fiber cells of the hair shaft, which have been stretched and then baked into an abnormal position by the use of the hot curling iron, becoming moistened, lose their crispness and finally assume their normal condition, and the "curls" no longer exist.

A Witty Courtier.

One of the difficulties of royalties—one of the things that account for the tendency to selfishness which has been considered one of the weaknesses of the royal caste—is that they so seldom hear the truth. One could give many examples of this in even the lighter affairs of life. For instance, when Louis XIV. was once playing at backgammon, a favorite game with him, a dispute arose as to a doubtful throw of the monarch. The courtiers, appealed to by the king, said nothing, not daring to give a verdict against the king, not caring to tell too palpable a lie. The Comte de Grammont entered at this awkward moment, and the king asked him to decide the matter. The witty courtier replied without a moment's hesitation, "Your majesty is in the wrong." "How," said Louis, "can you decide before you know the question?" "Because," replied the count, "had there been any doubt all these gentlemen would have given it in favor of your majesty."

Cabbage Field Hero.

An old English soldier tells how he missed the Victoria cross: "I was once sent out to India with a regiment to be pushed forward to the front, as a fierce war was going on. But one night we were suddenly attacked, and I got separated from my comrades and wandered about in the thick scrub for nearly three hours until I suddenly came into the open. I then laid myself flat on the ground to listen, as it was very dark. But I suddenly fancied I could see the enemy in front of me kneeling. I sprang to my feet, determined to cut some of them down before I was overpowered and shot, and, dashing forward, I slashed right and left until daylight broke over me, when I found that I had beheaded 500 red cabbages!"

Sir Joshua Reynolds.

Sir Joshua Reynolds once forgot the existence of one of his pictures. Edmund Burke obtained a very early work and called on the great artist, submitting the work as that of a young student who sought advice from the master. Reynolds had a long look and then asked, "Is the painter a friend of yours?" Burke replied in the affirmative. "Well," replied the great man, "I really don't feel able to give an opinion. It's a cleverish thing, but whether it is of sufficient promise to justify the young man in adopting art as a profession I cannot say." Sir Joshua had entirely forgotten his own work. —Chambers' Journal.

A Clincher.

They had looked soulfully into each other's eyes for some time, but somehow he didn't seem to come to the point. Then suddenly he made a discovery.

"You have your mother's beautiful eyes, dear," he said.

She felt that the time had come to play her trump card. "I have also," she said, "my father's lovely checkbook."

Within thirty minutes the engagement was announced.

BUSY BRAIN WORKERS.

Men of Thought and Mental Force Are Usually Long Lived.

It is a very common but erroneous belief that brain work is destructive of physical strength, says the Chicago Chronicle. The fact is that men of thought and mental force have always been distinguished for their age. Colon, Sophocles, Pindar, Anacreon and Xenophon were octogenarians. Kant, Buffon, Goethe, Fontenelle and Newton were over eighty. Michael Angelo and Titian were eighty-nine and ninety-nine respectively. Harvey, the discoverer of the circulation of the blood, lived to be eighty.

Many men have done excellent work after they have passed eighty years. Lander wrote his "Imaginary Conversations" when eighty-five. Izaak Walton wielded a ready pen at ninety. Hahnemann married at eighty and was still working at ninety-one. Michael Angelo was still painting his giant canvases at eighty-nine, and Titian at ninety worked with the vigor of his early years.

Fontenelle was as light hearted at ninety-eight as at forty, and Newton at eighty-three worked as hard as he did in middle life. Cornaro was in far better health at ninety-five than at thirty and was as happy as a sandboy. At Hanover Dr. Du Boisy was still practicing as a physician in 1897, going his daily rounds at the age of 103. William Reynold Salmon, M. R. C. S., of Conbridge, Glamorganshire, died on March 11, 1897, at the age of 106. At the time of his death he was the oldest known individual of indisputably authenticated age, the oldest physician, the oldest member of the Royal College of Surgeons, England, and the oldest Freemason in the world.

Fuss.

A writer in the London Lancet, discussing "Fuss as a Mark of Modern Civilization," defines fuss as a form of neurosis, and says of it:

It is not vigilance or prudence or deliberate and considerate judgment. It is not even a natural and rational anxiety, though it may exhibit itself in the guise of any one of these. It is mere fussiness. Serving in itself no useful purpose, it mingles with and impedes every useful work, dampening energy and discouraging initiative and the sense of responsibility in those engaged in it. All the while it may be preaching moderation and self control. This neurosis is not confined to any people or part of the civilized world, though it would seem to be more prevalent in some quarters than elsewhere. Wherever there exists a suitable soil in the form of an intellect equipped with the visual organs of education, but without corresponding reflective power and self restraint, there the morbid germ develops until it may even become epidemic over a wide area.

Mexican Justice.

An American tells this story of Mexican justice: "One morning the body of a cowboy was found in a border town. It was supposed he had crossed the Rio Grande to attend a dance and flirted with some senorita and so was shot by a Mexican. At least that was the theory, because a bag of money amounting to $200, all in gold, was found on the body, proving that the murder had not been done for robbery. Besides the coin a very costly six shooter, silver mounted and ivory handled, was strapped around the deceased. The finding of the gun was the occasion of a trial before the local alcalde, or justice of the peace. It was against the law to carry weapons, and the dead man was fined $200, just the sum they found on him, for violating the Mexican statute."

Explosive Diamonds.

It has long been known that diamonds, especially the class known as "rose diamonds," are likely to explode if subjected only to what would seem a very ordinary degree of heat. It is now believed that the explosions are the result of the rapid expansion of certain volatile liquids inclosed in cavities near the center of these precious stones. A great many diamonds, even though cut, mounted and worn as gems of perfection, are still in an unfinished condition—that is, the liquid drop from which the stone is being formed has not as yet deposited all of its "pure crystals of carbon." These movable drops may occasionally be seen with the naked eye.

The Brute.

"Wha-a-t's the matter, John?" gasped Mrs. Torque. "Don't you like the new dishes I've cooked?"

"Where did you get the recipe?"

"Out of the cookbook, of course. Why?"

"Don't you think that you happened to get the cookbook mixed with some dialect story? This dish tastes like it."—Baltimore Herald.

HOME OF THE MOLE.

Some of the Peculiarities of This Odd Little Animal.

The home of the mole, if nothing else, would prove that it is not the dull creature most people imagine it to be. Viewing it from the outside, this home would appear to be only a hillock of firm and well trodden earth, but if it were possible for you to pay the mole a visit you would be greatly surprised at what you would find under the mound of earth—a snug, leaf lined sleeping chamber in the very heart of the hillock, two galleries, one near the top, another near the bottom, connected with each other and with the main highroad and the "runs" which radiate from it in every direction by passages of various lengths.

It would all be very bewildering to you, but to the little builder it is all plain—every passage, where it begins and where it leads. And if by chance it be surprised in its nest it can withdraw into the central chamber and reach the highroad at once. The mole is said to be a very thirsty animal, and if its home be not near a stream of water it digs a number of little pits or wells along its "run" to catch the rain or dew.

A mole's eyes are very small (larger ones would be useless underground), but when it requires to use them it can bring them forth very quickly from the mass of fur which protects them. The quick ear, the acute sense of smell and the delicate sense of touch seem to serve the animal in its dark journeys through the earth instead of sight, and it is by means of these senses that it secures its food and escapes its foes.

The most extraordinary thing about a mole is the paw or hand with which it digs. The two forepaws are very large and are furnished with strong flattened nails. The hands are turned outward to enable the animal to throw the earth out of its way. Another curious part of the mole is its fur, and no matter how damp and slimy the mold through which the animal burrows the fur remains perfectly clean and velvety. That is because it has no "grain," but lies smooth in every direction. The short hairs grow perpendicular from the skin and are capable of turning with every direction of the animal.

Food For Toy Dogs.

Most people overfeed toy dogs, and the result is a fat, unhealthy looking specimen, with a foul breath and rough, staring coat. Some food is supposed to be better than others in the growing of coats. My experience has been that there is nothing so good for toy dogs as a judicious mixture of finely cut up boiled meat—beef or lamb necks are the cheapest and answer the purpose admirably—soaked bread from which the yeast has been squeezed out, boiled vegetables, such as potatoes, carrots, spinach, beans, etc., and occasionally rice, barley and oatmeal. To this should be added the soup in which the meat has been boiled, the mixture when finished being sufficiently firm to take out in a spoon without spilling. Once a day is sufficient for the average toy dog, but for this there is no cut and dried rule, an active dog of a nervous temperament needing more food than the ordinary specimen.—Outing.

THE STREET COMMITTEE AND THE STREETS.

For years some of the principal business streets of Sonama have not been in so bad a condition as they are at the present time. Particularly can this be said of Napa street, between First and Secand-streets East. When the Street Committee of the old Board of City Trustees was superseded last May by the present Street Committee, who now control all street work, the principal thoroughfares of the town were in fairly good condition. With a tax levy for general purposes about the same as it was under the regime of the old Board of City Trustees, some of these streets have been allowed to go all to pieces and it will take a good round sum to repair them—a wanton waste of the people's money.

Especially is this noticeable on Napa street between the Postoffice office corner and Second-street East, one of the prominent thoroughfares of Sonoma. Up to six months ago that portion of Napa street was in fine condition, although not over $10 had been spent on it for graveling and repairs for twelve or fifteen years. Last May that piece of road was the finest in the town. Today it is the worst. Last summer the Street Committee had this part of Napa street, which was as level as a floor and in excellent shape, mutilated by a road scraper and converted into a public nuisance to the detriment of those residing in the block in question and to the disgust of the public in general. During the windy days of last fall the private residences in that block were enveloped in clouds of dust which had been piled up and left in the middle of the street by the road scraper. Then came the rains and the dust gave way to mud, slush and ruts. Thus it is to-day, one of many mute witnesses of the incompetency of the present temporary rulers of things municipal in this town.

Fred. T. Duhring was in Fresno several days the past week.

Mrs. H. Appleton visited Mrs. Alex. Westrup of Kewnood last week.

Mrs. Robt. Poppe pleasantly entertained a number of lady friends Thursday afternoon.

Quite a number of people from Sonoma will attend the Native Son's ball in Glen Ellen this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burt and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Burt were in town Sunday. Henry Burt is in the commission business in San Francisco.

Mrs. G. W. Clark and her daughter-in-law Mrs. Alice Clark visited the county seat one day this week to be present at the final settlement of the Clark estate.

Rumor has it that Miss Bertha Campbell, who has been teaching in the far off Philippines for the past two years, will soon visit her parents Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Campbell of this place.

THE WINTER ROUTE EAST.

An erroneous impression prevails that because the Rocky Mountains have a high elevation, the winter climate is cold and snowy. The fact is the average precipitation of moisture during the entire year is less than fifteen inches, the danger from snow blockades on the railroads very slight. This is especially true of the Denver & Rio Grande, over which System travel has gone with less interruption for the past ten winters than upon the majority of lines popularly supposed to be free from such delays.

Old winter but adds to the majestic beauty of the mountain scenery along the way. It brings no fear nor discomfort to the traveler on the "Scenic Line of the World."

SHIP-WRECKED.

Humanity to the Rescue.

If the news were flashed across the continent that on some desolate, inhospitable shore a mother and child were ship-wrecked, it would not be an hour before relief expeditions were being planned and organized. Though the cost should be millions, though the voyage should be long and perilous, though the woman cast-away were the poorest of her sex, unstinted treasure would be poured out and life cheerfully risked to bring her back to home and happiness.

Is in any worse for mother and babe to perish of disease and hunger on a desolate island than under a sheltering roof in a civilized land? How many mothers' lives are wrecked by ill-health each year? How many infants die of innutrition annually? Why should not the story of such as these make appeal to human sympathy and stir men to organized effort for their relief.

RELIEF IS READY.

More and more with every month of every year women are learning that a call for help in their weakness and sickness will be promptly answered by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. Of the average of five thousand letters received by Dr. Pierce each week in the year a large number are from weak and sick women who ask for relief from pain, rescue from the loneliness and desolation of a life which disease has robbed of all its brightness. Every such letter is regarded as a cry for help, and the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y., of which Dr. Pierce is chief consulting physician and surgeon, is organized for the rescue of just such weak and sick women. With his staff of nearly a score of physicians, each man a specialist, Dr. Pierce responds to the appeal of suffering women as promptly as the crew of a life-boat respond to the appeal of distressed mariners. By his medicines and advice hundreds of thousands of sick women have been made well.

"I wish to add my testimony to hundreds of others as to the value of Dr. Pierce's medicines," writes Mrs. Ida M. De Ford, of Latona, Hubbard Co., Minn. "Have doctored with a great many physicians—some specialists; have twice been in a hospital for treatment. My case has been regarded as a hopeless one, and they knew not what the trouble was. Heart was bad; stomach all out of order; tired out, severe pains in all parts of the body; sinking spells and nearly every ailment a woman could have. I took many a bottle of different 'Patent medicines' without effect. I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and ten months afterward I gave birth to a ten-pound boy. All physicians had stated as a fact that I never could bear a child. Both the baby and myself were strong, and I got along splendidly—thanks to your medicine. I do my own work and feel very much encouraged. I wish all suffering women would thoroughly try your 'Favorite Prescription.'"

IS A WOMAN'S WORD GOOD?

Upon the answer to that question depends the value of statements such as those made by Mrs. De Ford. She "doctored with many physicians—some specialists," without benefit. She has "twice been in hospital." Her "case was regarded as a hopeless one." She turned to the use of "patent medicines without effect." And after all this suffering and the failures of the medicines and doctors, she was cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Any woman who can read such a statement as Mrs. De Ford's and doubt its truth casts a doubt upon the truthfulness of women at large. For this testimonial is only one of thousands written by women glad and grateful for healing by the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

But if Mrs. De Ford's testimony be accepted as true, what an avenue of hope it opens to the suffering of her sex, even to those who have seemingly exhausted all medical skill and medicinal means of cure.

"Over one year ago I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce for advice," says Mrs. R. M. Clites, of 1205 Williams Street, Omaha, Nebr. "Had been doctoring with two of my home physicians for blood poison. They did not do me much good—only for a short time. Dr. Pierce recommended his medicines and I took three bottles of his 'Favorite Prescription' and two of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and now I feel better than for more than ten years. I am so very thankful that I heard of Dr. Pierce's medicines, I cannot thank him too much for his kind advice to me." FOUNDED ON FACTS.

Every claim made for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has a cure right behind it. And behind this cure are thousands of other cures.

"Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries offensive and weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It is the best preparative for motherhood; tranquilizing the nerves, encouraging the appetite and inducing refreshing sleep. It makes the baby's advent practically painless and gives the mother strength to give her child.

Sick women, especially those suffering from chronic diseases are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Refuse all substitutes for "Favorite Prescription." The only motive for substitution is to enable the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines.

OF GREAT WORTH TO WOMEN.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser deals with the important questions in the fields of biology, physiology and hygiene, in plain English. Of especial value to women are the chapters treating on the care of the health, marriage and maternity. The work contains over a thousand large pages and is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A CRIMINAL WITH A PREVIOUS RECORD

Schmidt is Also Wanted in Martinez, Contra Costa County.

Henry Schmidt, who was held to answer to a charge of burglary by Judge Small of this place, last week, for entering the Gundlach home on Rhinefarm during the silent hours of midnight when graveyards yawn and hobgoblins are said to be stalking abroad, it now transpires is an old offender .

Sheriff Grace, as soon as he laid eyes on the man when lodged in jail some weeks ago, was firmly convinced that Schmidt was a hardened criminal and set about to hunt up the record of the man previous to the commission of the crime charged against him here.

The result of Sheriff Grace's research proves Schmidt to be a dangerous man to be at large and that he is evidently an incorrigible criminal.

Only the other day word reached the Sheriff's office in Santa Rosa that Schmidt was wanted in Contra Costa county for a burglary committed in Martinez last year and Sheriff Grace was requested to send the offender to that county for trial when he should have served out a sixty-day misdemeanor sentence in the Sonoma County Jail. Sheriff Grace replied that he, too, wanted Schmidt on a charge of burglary and that after he had been tried in the Superior Court of this county. if through any hook or crook he should escape conviction, the Sheriff of Contra Costa county could have him all right.

Sheriff Grace is one of the most indefatigable officers in the State and is a terror to evil doers. As Sheriff of Sonoma county he has made a record that any officer might well be proud of.

FISH AND GAME ASSOCIATION

Let Us Organize to Protect our Forests and Streams.

H. T. Payne, special agent of the State Board Fish and Game Commission, and President of the California Game and Fish Protective Association, was in town Monday and favored this office with a pleasant call. Mr. Payne, who is a nephew of Mr. T. S. Glaister of this place, was en route to Santa Rosa and Healdsburg, where he goes to inaugurate local Protective Associations in those places. It is his intention to form an association in Sonoma if our sportsmen desire him to do so. Such an association will ensure the stocking of numerous mountain trout streams adjacent to Sonoma with young fish. This will be done by the State without cost to the local body and in a few years would make our valley famous as a fishing resort. Should an association be formed here with the determination to protect our trout streams, Mr. Payne assures us that young trout will be furnished to stock every mountain stream that flows into the valley. Let us have a Protective Association by all means. Who will be the first one to move in this matter ?

NARROW ESCAPE FROM ELECTROCUTION.

Lineman of the Bay Powers Company Rendered Unconscious by Live Wire.

L. C. Russell, a lineman in the employ of the Bay Counties Power Company, had a narrow escape from being electrocuted last Tuesday morning. He owes his escape from instant death to the fact that he did not receive the full voltage of the big wires.

With other employees of the Bay Powers Company he was engaged in stringing a telephone wire on the electric power poles, opposite the Muser place. Russell, who was on the ground, held one end of a telephone wire in both hands when the other end slipped from a pole and striking a live wire gave him a shock that sent him reeling backward and felled him to the earth, where he lay as one dead.

Mr. John F. McQuiddy of this place, who happened to be near by, witnessed the accident and went to the prostrate and apparently dead man's assistance. He found the telephone wire, which was still in contact with the live wire, lying across the lineman's breast. This Mr. McQuiddy pushed aside with a stick and seizing Russell dragged him out of reach of the deadly embrace of the wire. Had Mr. Mc Quiddy not taken the precaution to remove the wire before seizing hold of the lineman he, too, would have received a shock that would have laid him prostrate alongside the other man.

It took Russell's fellow linemen over twenty minutes to revive him. He then came to town but was able to resume work the next day, although both hands were painfully seared by the wire.

An eye-witness to the accident says that Russel's face immediately after he had received the shock turned as black as coal and it was a long time before it resumed its natural color.

As a result of the accident over one hundred telephones in Petaluma, some fifteen miles distant, were burned out as was also the telephone in Clewe's store in this place.

It was only last week that Robert Wickham, a lineman of the Sunset Telephone Company, was instantly killed near Petaluma in precisely the same manner. This makes Mr. Russell's escape all the more remarkable.

Ladies Whist Club.

The Ladies' Whist Club met on Thursday afternoon at the handsome residence of Mrs. B. F. Campbell located in the eastern suburbs of town. The interior of this hospitable home was made attractive by boquets of flowers and greens, which occupied prominent places throughout the rooms, and choice refreshments were served amid much wit and merriment. After watching the clever playing of the ladies it was finally decided to award the first prize to Mrs. N. R. Knight, while Mrs. O. B. Shaw carried off the booby prize. This was a surprise to Mrs. Shaw's friends as she has always been considered a fine whist player, but this time her luck seemed to desert her. However, she promises next week to try her best for the first prize. It was late before this pleasant afternoon affair was brought to a close but not before each lady had voted Mrs. Campbell a royal hostess.

The Elite Hotel

The exterior of the Elite Hotel, formerly the Sonoma House, is receiving a new coat of paint and is being otherwise improved. This hostlery has already been thoroughly renovated inside and when all the necessary repairs have been made will be a credit to the town. The High School Tennis Club is gaining prestige and we hope for an increase in membership each week.

The young lady students are discussing the formation of a new club, the spirit of which will be centered in croquet.

Miss Lela Reynolds, one of our '05 girls, made a visit with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Reynolds, to Berkeley last week.

The S. V. U. H. S. Base-Ball Club may be seen earnestly practicing for the excellent games which we hope they will put up the coming season.

Professor Smith is coziely settled in his new home on Broadway, and may be seen after school hours busily engaged in improving his domain.

A large number of our students attended the Valentine Social at the Methodist Church last week and all report having spent a most pleasant evening.

Miss Hazel Gies made her usual trip to the metropolis last Sunday. Miss Gise is a very charming and bright young girl and was one of the belles at the recent High School ball.

We notice great improvements going on in the out-of-door sports at our High School. The students show an enthusiastic spirit in the way in which they work to gain their sports.

The tennis court on the High School grounds promises to be one of the most excellent courts in the valley. The President of the Tennis Club, Mr. Robt. Prussia, shows the proper spirit of progressiveness and is ably aided in his good work on the grounds by many of the obliging students.

Glen Ellen

From Chappie

W. S. Bonbright visited San Francisco Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Skahan transacted business in Santa Rosa last Tuesday.

Leo Justi, accompanied by Clarence Merlin-jones, made a visit to Sebastopol the early part of the week.

Mrs. P. J. Fearr, after a pleasant visit of several weeks with her father, Ed. Gender of the Cottage Hotel, returned to her home in San Francisco Monday.

Extensive repairs are going on at the Ross ranch house. Several additions have been made and everything put in a first-class and attractive condition.

The Dunbar school grounds have been beautified with a nice, new woven wire fence with iron gates—pretty and serviceable. The broken, unsightiy trees have been rooted up and converted into firewood. The oaks that are left furnish plenty of shade and form a pretty rural landscape which is pleasing to the eye of the numerous passers-by.

E. Skahan has sold out his store in San Francisco and has cast his lot in this flourishing town. He is a very bright and thorough business man, energetic and enterprising and possesses all the advanced ideas of conducting an up-to-date grocery store. He is assisted by his wife, a pleasant, capable business woman—a jolly, good-natured soul with a cherry word for all.

Ed. Thierkoff is one of the leading lights of this town. He has illuminated his place of business with a gasoline light that far surpasses the electric light in brilliancy and power. No matter how rapidly our burg improves Ed. keeps ahead of the times. As he leads, others may follow. He is never caught napping and whenever anything new comes up you will always find him in front of the procession.

This country is not only a land of fruit, sunshine and flowers but also a land of gold. Glen Ellen has risen to the occasion and at present has the center of the stage. The Cramer brothers have uncovered a ledge of quartz that assays in gold $30 to the ton. This mine is on the old Wright place about two miles from town. Capitalists have interested themselves with the Cramers to develop the mine and if the ledge holds out, as it promises to do, we have a Klondike in our midst. The ledge extends for miles and experts pronounce it inexhaustable. There is, without a doubt, untold wealth hidden in these grand old hills. This mine has been worked off and on for twelve years, but for lack of means has never been developed to any great extent. Now enough work has been done on it to inspire confidence in monied men, who see brilliant prospects ahead. The Cramers have never lost faith in the mine but were sure that it would eventually yield up its treasures. They deserve a great deal of credit for their indomitable perseverance in following their search for gold. It must be gratifying to them to show the doubting Thomases' of this locality that they were correct in their judgment. This is another of the good enterprises that will boom our favored burg and in time make it the metropolis of Sonoma county. The brickyard plant is also an assured success and when in operation will give employment to between 100 and 150 men.

A STRICT DOORKEEPER.

Amusing Experience With a Chinese Man of All Work.

When the Andersons went to California, they rented a small furnished house and engaged a Chinese man of all work. The house was well situated and tastefully furnished, and Wing Lee proved to be a good cook, clean and respectful.

As soon as the Andersons were settled the neighbors began to call, and it was then that the fact was discovered that Wing was absolutely devoid of any ideas as to the ushering in or out of guests.

So one morning the ladies determined to instruct him. Providing him with a tray, Miss Anderson went out, rang the bell, was shown into the parlor and waited while the calm Chinaman carried her card to Mrs. Anderson.

This was repeated several times until the ladies were quite satisfied that Wing was perfect in his role.

That evening at 8:30 the bell rang. Wing shuffled majestically to the door, while mother and daughter hung breathlessly over the banisters to watch the result of their teaching.

They heard a gentleman's voice ask if the ladies were at home. They saw Wing present his tray and receive a card with an air which made them mentally pat each other on the back, and then they saw him draw a card from his sleeve.

"Mine!" gasped Miss Anderson. "The one we used for the lessons!"

Wing compared the two carefully, and, returning the one which the caller had just handed him, he remarked blandly: "Tickee no good. No can come," and calmly shut the door in the face of the astonished guest.—Little Chronicle.

An Ancient Table.

"That must be an antique," remarked a visitor to a collector of bric-a-brac who was exhibiting his chief treasure, a handsomely carved oak table.

"Indeed it is," replied the other proudly. "I believe it to be the finest and oldest specimen of furniture extant."

"It may be the finest, but not the oldest," remarked the other. "Why, I have an Arabic table at home which dates before the beginning of the Christian era. In fact, it is known to be more than 2,000 years old."

"You surprise me," said the collector, not a little nettled by the remark. "I had no idea there were any tables as old as that. Is its history authentic? What is its character?"

"Oh, it's very simple," added the other. "It's the multiplication table. Its history is perfectly authentic."

The Firstborn.

Young Father—I am amazed, shocked, my dear, to hear you say you intend to give the baby some paregoric. Don't you know paregoric is opium, and opium stunts the growth, enfeebles the constitution, weakens the brain, destroys the nerves and produces rickets, marasmus, consumption, insanity and death?

Young Mother—Horrors! I never heard a word about that. I won't give the little ducky darling a drop; no, indeed. But something must be done to stop his yelling. You carry him awhile.

Father (after an hour's steady stamping with the squalling infant)—Where in thunder is that paregoric?

Good Intentions Frustrated.

Some men are affable and want to talk with every one they meet, while other men are not and want to be left alone in their shells. Extremes met on a Sixth avenue elevated train the other day—one of the dark, rainy days. A grim, grouchy individual sat in a corner seat reading a paper. At Forty-second street a trim little man got on and took the seat next to the sour one. After settling himself comfortably he remarked, "This is very nasty weather, isn't it?" The surly one looked up from his paper, glared at him a moment and then replied, "Is that any of your darned business?"—New York Tribune.

When Philadelphia Was First.

New York was not always the first city of America. In 1730 Philadelphia had a population of 12,000, Boston 11,500 and New York 8,600. Twenty years later Philadelphia's population had risen to 18,000, Boston's to 14,000 and New York's to 10,000. In 1790 the Quaker City still led, with 44,000, New York had jumped into second place, with 33,000, while Boston stood at 18,000.

All Writers.

"Literature certainly runs in the Scribbler family. The two daughters write poetry that nobody will print, the sons write plays that nobody will act, and the mother writes stories that nobody will read."

"And what does the father write?"

"Oh, he writes checks that nobody will cash."

Tendency of the Times.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. The best thought of the world is being given to the subject. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia always results from a cold or from attack of influenza (grip), and it has been observed that this remedy counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this remedy has been used during the great prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no danger is apprehended until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing and pains in the chest, then it is announced that the patient has pneumonia. Be on the safe side and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the cold is contracted. It always cures. For sale by F. Duhring. *

A Girl of Discernment.

Madge—You should see all the new things Tillie has.

Marjorie—She told me she was making some purchases.

Madge—That's hardly a name for it. I never saw so many lovely things in my life. Why, she has a new watch, three stunning suits, a fur cloak, some Turkish rugs, one of those big revolving bookstands and sets of all the popular authors. I wonder what it all means?

Marjorie—Why, she's going to be married at once, you little fool.

Madge—I don't know why I should have guessed that from seeing so many things in her house.

Marjorie—You would have, my dear, if you had known as much about them as I do. She has bought them all on the installment plan, and it will be up to her husband to make good nearly all the payments.

Exchange of Compliments.

The village sexton, in addition to being gravedigger, acted as a stonecutter, house repairer and furniture remover.

The local doctor, having obtained a more lucrative appointment in another county, employed the sexton to assist in his removal.

When it came to settling up accounts, the doctor deducted an old contra account due by the sexton. He wrote at the same time objecting to the charge made for removing his furniture.

"If this was steady, it would pay much better than gravedigging."

The sexton replied:

"Indade Oi wud be glad ave a steady job. Gravedigging is very slack since you left."—Spare Moments.

A Tale of Two Doctors.

Dr. Nash, who had published two heavy folios on the antiquities of Westminster, was taken to task by a brother antiquary, Dr. Barton, who pointed out several errors in the work and then asked, "Pray, doctor, are you not a justice of the peace?"

"I am," replied Nash.

"Then," replied Barton, "I advise you to send your work to the house of correction."
